Kristen Nalley of the Spartanburg Center started her work-based learning experience with SC Works. She will be learning about interworking of various community support offices, as well as, gaining valuable customer service and interaction skills. Kristen is currently a single mom, parenting two small children and still tackling her goals of GED attainment, while gaining the work experience needed for today. As she is planning her future goals, she is considering going into real estate or phlebotomy. While with ACHIEVE, Kristen has also earned her forklift certification and has already passed a few portions of her GED!
