

The Upstate Workforce Board is pleased to announce that Ms. Johnny-Lynn Crosby was appointed by Spartanburg County Councilman Manning Lynch to serve on the Upstate Workforce Board.

Ms. Johnnie-Lynn Crosby, Government Engagement Manager with Transfr Inc., has more than twenty-one years of workforce development experience and is actively involved in several workforce initiatives across the eastern United States. Prior to her work with Transfr, Ms. Crosby was responsible for leading a 14-county regional team through the development of sector partnerships for Diversified Manufacturing and for leading a regional multi-agency business solutions team across Cherokee, Greenville, Spartanburg, and Union counties. Ms. Crosby is a graduate of Purdue University Global and holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. She is a graduate of various county Leadership programs, Leadership South Carolina, and the Spartanburg Regional Fellows program. She is a former authorized WorkKeys job profiler and Career Development Facilitator. Ms. Crosby is also a graduate of the Economic Developers program from the SC Economic Development Institute. She has developed and implemented many company specific projects and successfully enhanced the pre-screening, recruiting, training, and retention programs with many companies throughout South Carolina. Ms. Crosby is constantly seeking innovative ways to create and promote high quality career pathways and industry training solutions.
